Welcome to Hostos Community College and the A.A. Degree in Liberal Arts & Science.

The Liberal Arts degree is the degree that opens the door to amazing possibilities.

In today's world, the job market is changing so rapidly that the career you are preparing for now, might not even exist by the time you graduate. There will also be many new work opportunities you can't even anticipate. Some people will have at least five jobs in their lifetime.

How can you get ready for a world of ever-changing opportunities? There is one degree that can prepare you to meet the future: the Liberal Arts Degree. With this degree you will receive the skills you need to solve problems, think critically, collaborate with others and develop strong communication skills in speaking and writing. And most important, you will have the background knowledge about different disciplines, diverse cultures and ways of understanding the world that employers value and that we all need to be productive and caring global citizens. In a recent survey, four out of five employers agreed that all students should acquire broad knowledge in the liberal arts & sciences.

At Hostos, we are committed to preparing you for this rapidly-changing world while encouraging you to ignite and follow your academic and career passions. To help you choose the path that's right for you, we are offering new Concentrations or Liberal Arts Options. These consist of 9-12 elective credits and can be found across all liberal arts disciplines. You'll find Options in Psychology, the Arts, History, Theater, Social Work, Social Science, Women's & Gender Studies, Aging and Health Care, Community Health, Health Care Management, English, Black Studies, Physical Education and Latin American and Caribbean Studies, just to name a few.

As a new student considering your educational and career goals, our Liberal Arts Options for Liberal Arts majors offer a more in-depth exploration of an area of interest to you. The Options will provide you with the knowledge and skills you need to pursue a career in a field of interest or as an introduction to advanced academic studies at a four-year college.

Browse through the Liberal Arts Options in this book to see the many opportunities that await you. The Liberal Arts Options will enrich your college studies and help you make the most of your A.A. Degree.

Please contact your SSCU, ASAP or CD advisor to enroll in a Liberal Arts Option or if you have any questions. Feel free to contact me for any additional information.

Wishing you all the best in your academic adventures,

Professor Linda Hirsch, Ph.D.
Director, A.A. Degree in Liberal Arts & Science

Browse through the many offerings to see what appeals to you. Some of the Options recommend courses for your first 30 credits, so thinking now about an Option you might pursue later will help you plan ahead.

The Liberal Arts Options will enrich your college studies and help you make the most of your A.A. Degree.

PSYCHOLOGY OPTIOPN: Why is General Psychology the most popular undergraduate course? The study of psychology provides an understanding about WHY we think, feel and behave the way we do. In addition, psychology is comprised of research and theoretical foundations that intersect with all disciplines in the liberal arts. The Psychology Option introduces students to psychology as an academic discipline, science, and profession. Course work stimulates critical thinking about the human experience from multiple lenses including gender, culture, race, and ethnicity across the lifespan.

TOP ACADEMIC SKILLS

- Develop information literacy, critical thinking, and the ability to synthesize content in meaningful ways.
- Understand basic psychological concepts, facts, research methods and theories.
- Gain insights and understanding of adaptive and maladaptive behavior from the biological, behavioral, cognitive, psychodynamic, humanistic and sociocultural perspectives.

CAREER LANDSCAPE

The Psychology Option prepares students for careers in allied and public health, business, criminal justice, education, human and mental health services, social work and the arts.

It leads to advanced studies for careers as psychologists in the clinical, neuropsychology, forensic, social, developmental, school, sports and/or organizational psychology fields or as licensed counselors in the substance abuse, marriage and family, school and career fields.

“Psychology is the scientific study of behavior and mental processes”

— Robert Feldman

BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES disciplines study different social aspects of human behavior and the ways in which humans have developed and interact in the context of their own social reality. The Behavioral Sciences Interdisciplinary Option includes studies in Sociology, Anthropology, and Psychology. Sociology examines social behavior, social interactions, social institutions, and social change. Anthropology adds to the knowledge about past societies and cultures as well as the origins of humans. Psychology concentrates on individual behavior and personality and the social aspects of human behavior. When these three disciplines are studied together, we develop a deeper understanding of our everyday reality, our culture, human behavior, and of the wide variations of norms and values of different societies.

TOP ACADEMIC SKILLS

- Develop information literacy, writing skills, critical thinking, analysis, application, evaluation skills and the ability to synthesize content in meaningful ways.
- Connect and understand the conceptual relationships among the different disciplines of Behavioral Sciences like Sociology, Anthropology, and Psychology and synthesize these concepts into a comprehensive, multidisciplinary approach.
- Become familiar with teamwork and communication skills necessary for future studies.

“Breakthrough innovation occurs when we bring down boundaries and encourage disciplines to learn from each other”

— Gyan Nagpal

WOMEN'S AND GENDER STUDIES OPTION

WELCOME TO THE LIBERAL ARTS OPTIONS!

The Liberal Arts Options for Liberal Arts majors are 9–12 elective credits that offer a more in-depth exploration of an area of interest to you. They can serve as an introduction to more advanced academic studies at a four-year college, or they can provide you with the skills you need to pursue a career in a field of interest with your A.A. Degree.

Each Option is aligned with the mission and learning outcomes of the Liberal Arts degree and provides you the skills and abilities you need to succeed academically and professionally.

Browse through the many offerings to see what appeals to you. Some of the Options recommend courses for your first 30 credits, so thinking now about an Option you might pursue later will help you plan ahead.

The Liberal Arts Options will enrich your college studies and help you make the most of your A.A. Degree.

WOMEN'S AND GENDER STUDIES OPTION: Drawing on feminist scholarship, the WGS Option explores the pervasive role that gender, and its intersections with other social categories of identity, has played in human societies. In WGS classes, students examine gender and sexuality in the family, media, popular culture, literature and the arts, history, employment, psychology, religions, science, and politics, with emphasis on the experiences and contributions of women and the LGBT community. Because education does not stop when students leave the classroom, WGS students make connections between their lives and their studies, deepening learning and encouraging civic engagement. By examining attitudes and practices that foster gender justice, WGS students are poised to effect change where they work and in their communities.

TOP ACADEMIC SKILLS

- Develop information literacy, oral and written communication skills, and critical thinking by questioning assumptions about gender and other categories of social difference.
- Analyze causes and solutions to transnational conditions of inequality faced by women and girls
- Problematize questions in the history of feminist activism and become informed consumers of research and news related to individual and systemic gender-related bias.

CAREER LANDSCAPE

WGS develops highly marketable skills including research, communication, and leadership. There is strong demand for this expertise in health care, law, education, psychology, criminal justice, social work, and public service. The Concentration provides a pathway to WGS in senior colleges.

“Well behaved women rarely make history.”

— Laurel Thatcher Ulrich

The Liberal Arts Options will enrich your college studies and help you make the most of your A.A. Degree.

THE ART HISTORY OPTION: There is something about art and artists that may be impossible to describe, to put into words. Human beings communicated for the first time not in letters on a page, but in images painted on a wall in a cave. Creative expression is something deep and meaningful and reflects what it means to be human, from the great pyramids of Egypt to the sculpture of Michelangelo, from the gardens of the Chinese literati to the paintings of Jean-Michael Basquiat, from the heart and hand of Frida Khalo to you.

The Art History Option supports students interested in the history of creative expression and who want to explore the world of images and what they mean.

TOP ACADEMIC SKILLS

- Develop information literacy, writing skills, and the ability to synthesize content in meaningful ways.
- Use technology to study visual culture.
- Become familiar with important periods of art in both Western and global traditions in order to understand historical antecedents and current movements in the visual arts.
