FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

The Social Sciences Unit at Hostos Community College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor to teach Economic courses.

The Social Sciences is one of three units that composes the Behavioral and Social Sciences Department. The Unit provides foundational courses in history, economics, and political sciences. The Unit is one of the oldest in the college and has historically been a vital part of both the department and school.

The Behavioral and Social Sciences Department is committed to the intellectual development and civic empowerment of all students through offerings that provide an understanding of human behavior and the social and historical evolution of societies, nation states, and modern systems of political and legal governance. Through specific offerings in the disciplines of sociology, psychology, anthropology, political science, public affairs, legal studies, history, and economics, students are encouraged to explore their society, its diversity, and acquire knowledge about the actions of individuals, institutions and key governance structures. The department offers liberal arts options and degree programs in public administration, criminal justice and legal studies. The department is committed to the enhancement of opportunities for historically underserved communities, including ethnic, racial and linguistic minorities.

The selected candidate will perform teaching, research and guidance duties in her/his area(s) of expertise. She/he will also share responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions.

QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. degree in Economics. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

The following qualifications are preferred:

- Experience with the use of instructional technology, including knowledge and experience with Blackboard
- Experience with non-traditional learners
- An interest in curriculum development and developing Writing Intensive courses by incorporating Writing Across the Curriculum strategies in their teaching
- Availability to work evening and weekend hours
