Indie films are not 'big budget' and their box office success relies on grassroots word-of-mouth promotion – just think about indie films like Juno, Little Miss Sunshine, Margot At The Wedding, The Savages, etc.

Depending on the success of the first two weeks further plans will be made to expand the release into other communities around the US. Every help in promoting this film is greatly appreciated. Please let your friends know.

Best personal regards,

Andrzej Krakowski
