Middle States Accreditation Completed!

Dear Students and Colleagues,

The Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) has provided us with an official notification informing us of our institution's successful accreditation. As shared on multiple occasions, this good news is the result of the hard work of many who participated generously in our Self-Study process. Together, over 100 individuals helped produce a powerful, substantive document which communicates our ongoing commitment to social justice, equity, generational transformation and student-centeredness evidenced in so much of the work taking place at the College.

Professor Nelson Nuñez Rodríguez, one of our co-chairs, echoes in these sentiments and shared, "I will always carry with me the passion and talent that Hostos members showed during this three-year journey. They really care about the institution. Congratulations to All! Professor Kate Wolfe, co-chair, added, "the successful completion of this 3-year journey required collaboration, dedication, hard work and perseverance of the college community through a pandemic."

You can view this information through the Commission's website at www.msche.org

Mil gracias y bendiciones,

Daisy Cocco De Filippis, Ph.D.
