EMPOWERING FUTURE LEADERS

As an anchor in the South Bronx, Hostos proudly unveiled enhanced associate degree programs in Fall 2016.

The Associate in Science (A.S.) in Police Science degree program examines the major role of policing in the United States and educates students to become meaningfully employed in-state, county, local and uniformed federal law enforcement agencies. The curriculum will provide specialized concentrations in the role of police and the community, their structures, as well as issues affecting law enforcement today.

Hostos continued to build its interdisciplinary Associate in Science (A.S.) in Food Studies degree program with four tracks of study— health and nutrition; political science (food policy); urban/social studies (social issues); and environmental studies (environment and sustainability)—designed to prepare students to transfer into related four-year degree programs.

DIVERSITY

A LEADER IN INNOVATIVE TECHNOLOGY

In April 2016, Hostos earned the #1 ranking among mid-sized community colleges in a national award survey on technology capabilities and initiatives conducted by the Center for Digital Education.

The College was honored with the top prize for numerous technology advancements, including the launch of its mobile app, myHostos, for both the iOS and Android platforms. Hostos also increased the use of tech-enhanced learning through tech-enabled classrooms and offered hybrid and online courses to address both enrollment challenges and convenience needs of commuter students.

★ GLOBAL CULTURE ★

Hostos takes great pride in educating students from diverse ethnic, racial, cultural and linguistic backgrounds. The College fosters a multicultural environment in which students appreciate, respect and learn from one another.
