

Hostos Study Abroad 2014

Learn about the language, history, education and culture of the Dominican Republic.

Summer Professional Development in the Dominican Republic

Hostos Community College and Universidad Autónoma de Santo Domingo present a summer professional development program in the Dominican Republic for educators and post graduate and undergraduate education students. Learn about the language, history, education and culture of the Dominican Republic. The classes will have a special focus on the educational systems of both countries.

Study at Hostos Community College and in the Caribbean at Universidad Autónoma de Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic and Instituto de Educación Superior Salome Ureña de Henriquez. Visit the National Palace of the Dominican Republic, as well as field trips and guided tours to historical sites in different cities. Also visit public schools in the Dominican Republic. Additional sites may be added.

Program participants will receive professional development hours credited towards their NYS license certification and a certificate of completion of the program from Universidad Autónoma de Santo Domingo and from Hostos Community College of The City University of New York.

Program Requirements:

- NYS Certified teacher or other education professional, post graduate and undergraduate student in education
- Teaching/having taught students of Dominican nationality or ancestry (or other Latino students)
- Willingness to work on group projects both in the Dominican Republic and upon return
- Letter of recommendation from school principal (for education professionals) or from professor or supervisor for post-graduate students
- CUNY guidelines travel clearance: (Medical forms/insurance/notarized liability forms etc.)
- One page essay describing the reasons why you want to participate in the program and your goals and expectations.
- Knowledge of Spanish is helpful, but not required.
